

Golden Rule Principle*

A suit should not be bid twice unless the suit has at least six cards.

This applies not only to the Opener and Responder, but also to the Opponents of the Opening Bidder.

Maybe you thought it was going to be something very complicated and difficult, but there are many bridge players who disregard the concept of the Golden Rule.

*Postulated by Alan Truscott